PITBULL ATTACK HORROR

A DISTRAUGHT dog owner has spoken of her horror after two pitbulls burst into her home and savaged her pet Shih Tzu.

Hazel Pearce, of Westfields, Harlow, said the two Irish pitbulls ran into her living room after her husband opened the front door to take the rubbish out, smashing through a dog gate and attacking their dog, Sheba.

"They just ripped her to shreds," said Mrs Pearce said. "One of her eyes was hanging out after they'd finished with her and she was bleeding all over. It was like something out of a horror film."

The pitbulls' owner eventually followed the dogs into the house but was unable to stop the attack until the miniature Sheba had sustained serious injuries.

"I was just in shock," said Mrs Pearce. "We knew we had to get her to a vet as soon as possible so we picked her up and rushed off to get help immediately."

"I can't describe how awful she looked. Her hair had been ripped off and there was blood everywhere. The vet said they'd never Look what arrived for Christmas!

MIDWIVES at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital were kept busy on Christmas Day with no fewer than 10 arrivals.

One baby who put in an early appearance was Angelica Colmenar, who was born at 8.42pm weighing just 4lb 7oz. She is now back home at Netteswell Tower with proud parents Ernest (27) and Jocelyn (25) and sister Nicole (2).

Angelica was due on New Year's Day and so was named to celebrate her Christmas Day arrival.

Her delighted dad said: "I didn't expect to have such a wonderful Christmas present. We are very happy."

Harry John Snow melted the hearts of parents Emma (39) and Steven (49) and big sister Francesca (3) when he arrived at 6.49pm weighing 8lb 13oz.

He had been due last Wednesday but mum Emma, of Down Hall Road, Matching Green, went into labour early on Christmas morning.

"It wasn't my ideal scenario but we are all thrilled with him and feel really lucky to have a healthy little boy," she said

In total five boys and five girls were born at the hospital on Christmas Day.

Anger at delay to roof safety work

RESIDENTS living on a Harlow housing estate which was hit by two major fires in the past 18 months have blasted delays to roof replacement works designed to make their homes safer.

Concern over the apparent ease with which the flames spread through the shared roof space of terraced homes on the Berecroft estate prompted housing association South Anglia Housing to start a programme of remedial works earlier this year.

Following a comprehensive survey of homes on the estate, work on an initial block of four properties started in October. But less than two months on the project has now ground to a halt.

A letter sent out to residents by the housing association earlier this month blamed unforeseen structural issues for the delay. It said extra work would now have to be carried

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ried out on each home, meaning repairs will now take longer than first thought.

Apologising for the delay, the letter added that a revised programme of works should be in place by early next month.

One resident, who did not want to be named, contacted the Star to voice their anger at the setback. "The work was supposed to be well under way by now: we were told it would all be finished within a year," they said.

"But now workmen seemed to have downed tools and the project has stalled before it's even really begun. It's just not good enough."

Another added: "We are justifiably concerned about the safety of our homes but it looks as though we're going to be left waiting yet again.

"It took South Anglia long enough to start work in the first place. God knows how long it's going to take to finish the job now."

Tracy White, managing director of South Anglia Housing, said the delays were unavoidable.

"We all want to see the Berecroft estate re-roofed quickly but we have to balance this need with providing a safe and long-lasting solution.

"Unfortunately, we have experienced some unavoidable delays as repair work is more complicated than the surveyors originally thought. We are working closely with our independent specialists to finalise the best way to deal with this.

"We have informed residents that the works will be taking longer than we originally expected, and will be updating them with a revised programme of works early in the new year."

Prizewinners' trip of a lifetime to see Santa

A LUCKY Harlow family got an extra-special Christmas present this year – a trip to see Santa in his Lapland grotto.

Mum Marisa Garcia was joined by her sister, two children and niece on the once-in-a-lifetime day trip to the winter wonderland on December 23 after winning a competition organised by the Harvey Centre.

After they arrived at airport they were whisked off on a magical sleigh ride across the frozen lakes towards the top-secret location nestled in a snow-covered forest.

There they enjoyed six hours of festive fun, meeting Santa's reindeer, enjoying a ride on a snowmobile, racing each other on toboggans and visiting a stunning snow castle before the highlight of the trip – meeting Father Christmas himself.

seen anything like it."

Despite the best efforts of the vet, Sheba had to be put down because of the severity of her injuries.

Police are now investigating the attack, which took place last Saturday, and are trying to trace the owner of the pitbulls.

"To have something like this happen in your own home is terrifying," said Mrs Pearce. "I can't understand why their owner didn't have them on a lead."

"Those vicious beasts should be put down. Next time it might be a child they savage to death."

An Essex Police spokeswoman said: "We have been trying to contact the owner of the dogs and will question him about offences under the Dangerous Dogs Act.

"We are appealing to the owner to contact us as soon as possible so we can progress our enquiries."

Anyone with information about the attack should contact PC Carly Daly at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444.

Woman (82) treated for smoke inhalation

AN elderly woman was treated for smoke inhalation after a fire broke out at her bungalow home on Boxing Day night.

Firefighters were called to the deal with the fire, which broke out in the kitchen of the property in Mandeville Close, Harlow, shortly after 10pm.

The kitchen was heavily smoke logged although the flames had already been extinguished by the time the crews arrived on the scene.

The 82-year-old woman was given oxygen therapy by fire crews and was then placed in the care of the ambulance service.

A CHARITY which dishes out emergency food boxes to people in times of crisis has helped more than 2,000 in its first 18 months.

Harlow Foodbank has handed out emergency rations to 1,246 adults and 775 children since its launch in April 2009.

The charity, which is run by the Michael Roberts Charitable Trust from the The Rainbow Centre in Wych Elm, has collected over 16 tonnes of food this year.

Some of this comes from its partners in and around Harlow – including 43 churches, 33 frontline care professionals and 23 schools. The charity also organises collection days at local supermarkets during which they ask shoppers to donate items.

Much of the food is kept at Lok'n Store

By DAN PHILLIPSdaniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk which provides space at its Edinburgh Way warehouse free of charge.

Gary Knott, the Foodbank's director of community services, said: "We are seeing more and more families, couples and individuals using our service as they find themselves in crisis, often through no fault of their own."

"Client referrals this year have risen by 100 per cent compared to the same period last year."

"We would like to sincerely thank our partner organisations and the people of Harlow for helping us to feed everyone who is hungry and in need of support from the Foodbank."

Throughout this month local supermarkets have allowed the Foodbank to organise extra food collection days in their stores, bringing in another 200 crates of food donated by customers.

Gary said: "Sometimes people are surprised by the need for emergency food locally, but hidden hunger is a real problem in the UK."

"Behind closed doors there are families who would be forced to send their children to bed hungry if the Foodbank was not here to help."

"We see families every day who are so grateful for a simple food box and we are delighted that the local community has been so supportive."

Moat team work their magic for day of garden makeovers

STAFF at a local housing association have helped to rejuvenate four garden areas around Harlow.

The team from Moat worked their magic on areas in The Briars, Copshall Close, Aylets Field and Gladden Court as part of a community day.

The aim was to make residents feel more at home and happier with their surroundings.

Kier Harlow supplied the tools while staff from Moat's repairs contractor, Mears, also joined in.

Every year all of Moat's 430-plus staff take part in at least one community day.

Jenny Scott, Moat's interim director of housing operations, said: "The community days that Moat organises are a way of giving neighbourhoods a helping hand where they need it."

"This particular community day was a lot of fun because there were so many people involved."

Pop to the pub for a pint and a parable

THE local diocese is backing a campaign to have the Bible read in more than 200 pubs in Essex throughout 2011.

Next year is the 400th anniversary of the publication of the King James Bible and the Chelmsford Diocese is running a range of initiatives to mark the occasion.

The vision for the event, called 'Beer and Bible', is to encourage readings in bars, with particular emphasis on events in the Christian calendar such as Easter and Holy Week.

Web pages on a number of social networking sites are being set up to support the initiative and there will be a wide variety of resources and suggestions about possible approaches.

Accidental verdict on man hit by train

A FATHER-of-two was killed by an express train less than an hour after running out of a meeting about his mental health problems, an inquest heard.

Paul Hawksworth had suffered from a depressive mental illness in 2002 but was scared about it returning following treatment.

Hatfield Coroner's Court was told Mr Hawksworth (44), of Meadow Way, Sawbridgeworth, was struck by the London-bound Stansted Express at Bishop's Stortford on November 1.

The inquest was told Mr Hawksworth appeared from the side of the bridge and ran directly across the line as the National Express train approached.

Mr Hawksworth, a marketing consultant, had received in-patient treatment for a depressive mental illness. Despite making a good recovery, his symptoms reappeared in October this year after he became worried about work.

He went to see his GP who diagnosed him as acutely mentally ill and arrangements were made for him to see a community mental health team. A meeting was held during which Mr Hawksworth was described as being in a very agitated state at the meeting.

After a care package of support and treatment at his home was agreed, he ran out of the building.

Herts coroner Edward Thomas said: "He was scared of the implications of his illness. He knew the symptoms were back. He fled because he was worried."

"It's quite possible he went into the train because he was running away. He was not co-ordinated, he had no understanding of where he was and what was happening."

Recording a verdict of accidental death, the coroner said there was no indication Mr Hawksworth had intended to take his own life.

Bad weather fails to blunt shops' trade

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

HEAVY snowfall and icy conditions have failed to put the skids on trade in Harlow town centre as shoppers enjoyed a profitable run-up to Christmas.

In stark contrast to many towns and shopping centres across the UK – some of which have experienced a drop in shopper footfall of up to 50 per cent – business has been booming at both The Harvey Centre and The Water Gardens.

The Harvey Centre's footfall was down by only 2.26 per cent in the week commencing December 13, with Saturday, December 18 being the busiest day despite the blizzard conditions.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "I'm confident that any reduction in footfall last week due to the weather has been recovered this week as shoppers make up for lost purchases."

"Despite the slight drop which is only to be expected in light of the adverse weather, last week's was 310,739, with Saturday being the busiest day despite it being the hardest hit by weather conditions."

Trade has been similarly buoyant at The Water Gardens, with many retailers reporting a boost in profits compared to last Christmas.

Complex manager Beryl Murphy told the Star: "Shops elsewhere in the country have had a miserable Christmas but it looks as though Harlow has once again bucked the trend to exceed all expectations."

"Many of our shops have outperformed expectations in the run-up to Christmas, with some experiencing an increase in trade on last year's figures."

"Not one of our retailers has reported a drop in business which, considering the treacherous weather this year, is quite an achievement."

She added: "We've worked round the clock to make sure that our walkways and car park have been kept clear of snow and ice, and the fact the car park has been full despite the weather shows how good business has been."

Charity shop raffle is quite a draw

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon popped in to pick the winning ticket in a local charity shop's popular Christmas fundraising raffle on Thursday.

Mr Halfon joined staff and volunteers at the Harlow branch of the British Heart Foundation's furniture and electrical store in Terminus Street to draw the ticket for a Christmas hamper. The raffle has raised more than £2,250 for the national heart charity.

Area manager Jacqui Whitehall said: "Our staff and volunteers have worked hard to sell the tickets and it's been great to see the local community getting into the festive spirit and raising vital funds for the nation's heart charity." Pictured with Mr Halfon are Sally Bugg, Amal Harischandra, Viki Salter and Charmain Lander.

Trial of man on attempted murder charge is adjourned

THE trial of a man accused of attempting to murder his former partner has been adjourned until the New Year.

Leo McKnight denies trying to batter Marcia McKnight to death with an iron bar in the garden of the home they shared in Epping Road, Roydon, on July 28 this year.

The case, which is being heard at Chelmsford Crown Court, was adjourned for the Christmas and New Year break and will resume in January.

The prosecution allege that McKnight lured her into the garden, hit her over the head with a metal pole and continued to attack her before she managed to escape.

He claims a stranger entered the garden and attacked Ms McKnight.

The court heard the couple were together for nine years and have four children. Their relationship broke down after he refused to marry her.

SCREEN TEST: Headteacher Vic Goddard gets an overview in the director's gallery (photo: HAR0701721)

School given a lead role in documentary

TELEVISION cameras have been rolling at a Harlow secondary school for a documentary about the highs and lows of being a teenager.

Channel 4 film crews have been recording events at Passmore School and Technology College throughout the autumn term.

The fly-on-the-wall documentary aims to provide an insight into youngsters' hopes, fears and ambitions as they near the end of their time at the school.

Headteacher Vic Goddard said: "Filming quickly became part of everyday school life.

"Of course, there were times when you suddenly realise that the nation would be seeing how you dealt with a particular situation – albeit in a year's time – but you still wonder how you will come across."

Remote cameras have been recording in classrooms, social and communal areas and staff offices since half term.

More footage has been taken by camera crews in and around the school grounds in Tending Road.

The series, which

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertssexnews.co.uk will be aired in autumn 2011, focuses on a number of students and members of staff in Year 11, although most of the year group have been caught on camera at some point.

The bulk of the filming ended on the last week of the autumn term, but cameras are set to return at various points throughout the coming spring and summer terms.

The school was selected by production company TwoFour to take part in the series after being shortlisted for the project.

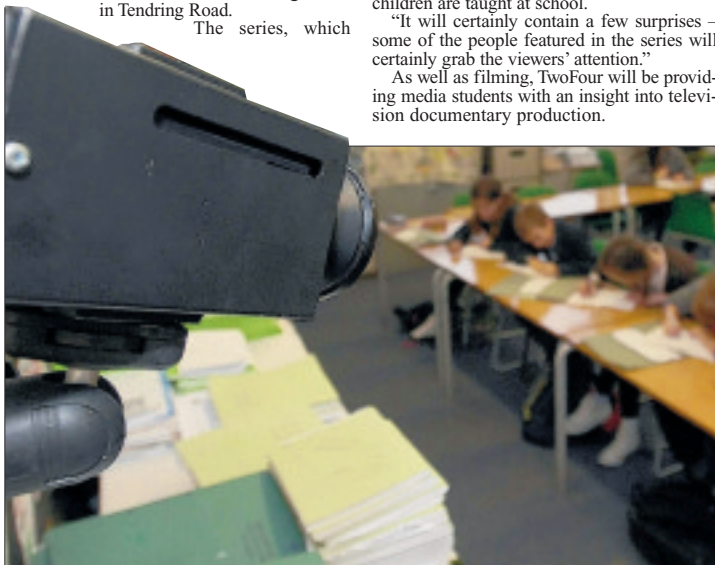

Passmore was recently rated as outstanding by Ofsted and celebrated its 50th anniversary during the summer.

The school is also due to move to a new multi-million pound building on Tracey Road in September 2011.

Mr Goddard added: "The series is a wonderful opportunity for the school and will give the public a better understanding of how their children are taught at school.

"It will certainly contain a few surprises – some of the people featured in the series will certainly grab the viewers' attention."

As well as filming, TwoFour will be providing media students with an insight into television documentary production.

Village airfield in words and photos

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ANYONE with their eyes on the skies will have seen the planes that are now a familiar feature over Harlow as they make their way to and from Stansted Airport.

However, a new book charting the history of North Weald Airfield reveals that the airways above the town have always been busy – particularly during the First and Second World Wars.

RAF North Weald: A Pictorial History tells the story of the airfield from 1916 when German Zeppelins started their bombing raids during the 1914-18 conflict.

In response to this threat, a 136-acre site just across the road from Weald Common, North Weald Bassett, was taken over to accommodate a small number of aeroplanes.

North Weald was part of a ring of similar sites located around the capital. Their role was to intercept and bring down the airships before they were able to wreak destruction.

No 39 (Home Defence) Squadron was stationed at North Weald, first with a fleet of B.E.2cs and then later the hardier Bristol Fighters.

They had a number of successes, most notably the shooting down of the Zeppelin L31 which crashed spectacularly in flames at Potters Bar.

Later during the Great War a Gotha – a huge German biplane bomber – was brought down by pilots based at the airfield.

In 1927 the RAF moved into North Weald and for 10 years the skies above were filled with silver biplanes flown by pilots who were honing their combat skills.

By the late 1930s war with Germany was looming and the Hurricanes' silver was soon replaced with camouflage.

The airfield grew in size and capability and more squadrons began to arrive.

In 1940 the Battle of Britain was raging in the skies over south-eastern England. RAF pilots were scrambled to fight off the threat from Hitler's Luftwaffe that targeted first the airfields and then the capital.

Later in the war North Weald hosted squadrons of fighter bombers in preparation for D-Day.

It continued to be a frontline airbase until 1958.

The full story of the airfield is contained in the book by Dave Eade, alongside colour illustrations and photos and a foreword by Lord Tebbit.

Published by Ad Hoc Publications, it is available at local bookshops for £17.95 or direct from the publishers for £20. For further details, visit the website at www.adhocpublications.com.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Football teams

RECENTLY we published an old team photograph of Harlow Town Football Club dating back to the 1920s and asked if any Nostalgia readers could name the people in the picture.

So far we have drawn a blank, but in the meantime we have been sent another soccer-related photo which you may find of interest.

This team photograph shows Harlow Catholic Football Club and was taken during the 1960-61 season, a year they won the Division 2 Cup presumably from a local or regional league.

From the Star 25 years ago

Train chief's pledge

There is light at the end of the tunnel for long-suffering commuters on the Harlow Town to Liverpool Street line. Promises of a brighter New Year for weary travellers were given to the Star by the region's manager, Theo Steele.

Fountain of cash

Generous shoppers have thrown a whopping £1,100 in coins into the fountain at the Harvey Centre for its charity appeal. "It's a measure of the kindness of our visitors," said centre manager David Bayes.

Buses free-for-all?

A bus war could erupt when the new Transport Act comes into force next year, bringing with the possibility of lower fares and duplicated services. Operators will be able to run services along any route so long as they keep to a timetable.

Shopping spree

Shoppers in Harlow had a bumper spending spree to stock up before Christmas, local shops have reported. Tesco manager Keith Barnett said most residents were staying at home because of the recent drink driving campaign.

Mechanic's mini
Mini is a marvel

A RETIRED mechanic has spent three months making his Mini car even smaller – so that it fits in the hold of his motor home!

Lester Atherfold (67), from New Zealand, trimmed the 10ft-long classic car to just 7ft 10ins so he could take it with him on his travels.

He cut 2ft from the middle, removed the back seats, narrowed the entire vehicle and fitted new engine parts, a clutch and dashboard.

The transformation cost the experienced mechanic just £95 and the mini Mini can still reach speeds of up to 75mph.

Mr Atherfold bought the 1964 model for the equivalent of £200 in 1988.

He can now take his wife out shopping and on day trips when the couple are on holiday in their motor home.

He told reporters: "It's fantastic. It gives us total freedom from the motor home when we are away on holiday."

"The Mini was the only car in the world that would fit in the motor home; all the others were too big and tall."

"We can see and do things that would otherwise be impossible. What other car would fit under your bed?"

Asbo yob fails in bid to overturn jail term

A DRUNKEN yob who pelted a Harlow newsagent with sweets after having a tantrum in his shop has failed in a bid to have his 12-month prison sentence overturned.

London's Criminal Appeal Court heard that John Patrick Hennigan, (44), of Brockles Mead, Harlow, had been treated with "nothing but kindness" by shopkeeper, Satpul Mathu, who had given him a free can of beer because it was his birthday.

But despite this, Hennigan – who had already breached an anti-social behaviour order imposed in 2005 on five occasions before the attack – hurled sweets at Mr Mathu at his shop in Adam's House and subjected him to racial abuse.

The judges were told the incident happened on November 6 last year after Hennigan lost his temper.

He was jailed for a year at Chelmsford Crown Court on September 23 after being convicted of two counts of racially aggravated common assault and two counts of breaching his Asbo.

Last week the case was back

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

in court after Hennigan asked Mr Justice Maddison and Judge Anthony Scott-Gall, to give him another chance.

The court heard that Hennigan became angry after suspecting that two other men in the shop had stolen his free can of beer.

He demanded that Mr Mathu show him the CCTV footage from the shop's security cameras to confirm his suspicions and lost his temper when the request was refused.

Rejecting the appeal, Mr Justice Maddison said: "He conducted himself in that small shop in a disgraceful and destructive manner, using racial abuse against a shopkeeper who had shown him nothing but kindness.

"He has a history of disobedience to court orders. This was the sixth occasion he had breached the order. There is no mitigation available to this appellant.

"We are not persuaded that the sentence was manifestly excessive and this appeal is dismissed."

Police deliver gifts to town refuge

POLICE officers from Harlow added an extra present to their Christmas lists this year to ensure victims of domestic abuse did not miss out on the festivities.

Officers paid a visit to a refuge in the town where they handed over almost 200 gifts donated by Essex Police staff.

Detective Sergeant Angie

Mitchell said: "While most of us joined family and friends for a joyful celebration this Christmas, for some the festive season is a time of fear and much loneliness.

"For victims of domestic abuse, this time of year can be particularly difficult, as the stresses of Christmas make temper boil over and give rise to conflict and quite often victims of domestic abuse leave their homes with nothing more than the clothes on their back.

"There are approximately 200 people currently in refuges across our area and we hope these gifts brought a small sparkle back into their lives."

New scanner to speed up diagnosis at the bedside

A NEW hand-held ultrasound machine that enables medics to accurately scan a patient's heart at their bedside has been donated to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The Hospital League of Friends raised the cash to buy the compact echo device by holding a series of fundraising events.

A hospital spokesman said the portable echo device will speed up diagnosis of patients with heart complaints.

The compact ultrasound machine works in the same way as larger versions and gives accurate information on the structure and function of the heart.

Previously, patients would have longer to wait while a larger piece of equipment was brought to the ward and a more timely and detailed scan was carried out.

Dr El-Gendi, consultant cardiologist at PAH, said: "We are extremely grateful to the League of Friends for raising the funds to purchase our first compact echo scanner.

"With it we will be able to reduce waiting times and prioritise urgent cases more effectively."

Everyone has it in them to be a Sam.

Disabled man groomed girl over internet

A DISABLED man who groomed a 13-year-old girl for sex over the internet has been banned from associating with children for life.

Paul Sillett (38) was told by a judge at Huntingdon Crown Court that he was able to suspend a prison sentence because of his circumstances.

The court heard that Sillett, of Pear Tree mead, Harlow, met the girl through a social networking site popular with young people. He asked her to send him pictures of her naked, as well as trying to arrange meetings with her in Cambridge.

Hugh Vass, prosecuting, said Sillett first contacted the girl in 2008 when she was 12, using computers belonging to other members of his family as well as a mobile phone.

He said Sillett had given a number of different ages for himself but then told her he was 37. Mr Vass said: "He told her he was sexually aroused talking to her which she said made her feel uncomfortable."

The court heard that the girl's mother reported what had happened to the police.

Sillett pleaded guilty to a charge of facilitating the commission of a child sex offence.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

Jamie Sawyer, representing Sillett, said in mitigation: "This man clearly knew what he was doing was wrong."

He said the girl had made it clear she would never have met Sillett and had said that she had been stringing him along.

Sillett - who has learning difficulties, a low IQ and cerebral palsy - was given a 12-month custodial sentence suspended for two years. He was also placed under supervision for two years, including assessment for a place on a sex offenders' programme for people with intellectual disabilities, and made the subject of a Sexual Offences Prevention Order which stops him from associating with under-18s, except where their parents know his background, for the rest of his life.

Passing sentence, Judge Patrick Moloney told Sillett he had been grooming the victim for sexual activity.

"You have your own problems but none of that explains or excuses the way you were behaving towards what you knew to be a very young girl," he said.

PAH braced to meet demands of winter

PLANS are in place to help Princess Alexandra Hospital cope with additional demand over the winter months.

Extra beds are available to help cater for any additional increase in hospital admissions that may arise and, just as importantly, the hospital has worked with NHS West Essex to ensure that additional community beds are available should they be needed.

The new urgent care centre at the Hamstel Road site should also help to ease the pressure on the accident and emergency department.

Fewer operations have been scheduled over the Christmas and New Year period in a bid to reduce the number of missed appointments and to create additional capacity for emergency patients.

Outpatient and diagnostic services normally held at the Tower Centre clinic in Hoddesdon and Rectory Lane clinic in Loughton today (Thursday) and tomorrow will now take place on the main Harlow site.

Darren Leech, PAH's executive director of delivery, said: "Having experienced a very difficult winter in 2009/10 it was important that the hospital, along with our colleagues in primary and community care, developed a robust approach this year in order that we are better prepared.

"There should be a greater degree of flexibility in the local health system so that we can better deal with surges in emergency activity without having to cancel large volumes of patients coming in for operations."

He added: "The norovirus outbreak that hit many hospitals, including PAH, last winter is a constant threat which can further adversely affect the hospital. We would remind people not to come into hospital if they are exhibiting symptoms but instead stay at home."

● Patients are being asked to keep their hospital appointments over the Christmas and New Year period.

To reiterate the importance, the PAH NHS Trust is contacting everyone via a call operator prior to their appointment to ask them to confirm they can still attend.

"We treat this period no differently to any other time of year," said Mr Leech. "Historically there has always been a low 'do not attend' rate during December which costs the trust a significant amount of money. It is important that people recognise the importance of attending so not to waste precious NHS resource."

If people can not attend their appointments they are asked to contact the hospital in advance.

Next step in health service shake-up

THE Government has set out the next steps in its plan to reform the health service with £89bn going direct to primary care trusts for frontline services – an increase of three per cent in funding for the NHS.

Liberating the NHS: Legislative Framework and Next Steps reaffirms the commitment to the reforms set out its White Paper published in July. The reforms will create an NHS that puts patients at the heart of everything it does, focuses on improving health care outcomes and allows professionals at every level to take decisions in the best interests of patients.

Feedback to the White Paper has now been considered and changes made. As a result, commissioning of maternity services will now sit with GP consortia and councils' formal scrutiny powers will be extended to cover all NHS-funded services and local authorities will have greater freedom in how these are exercised.

More than 50 GP consortia have already signed up as pathfinders to manage their local budgets and commission services for patients. In total, the pathfinders involve 1,860 GP practices and cover around 25 per cent of the population.

Also published are the PCT Allocations and NHS Operating Framework for 2011/12. These set out what the NHS must do next year in order to secure a "patient-centred and outcome-focused" service.

The Operating Framework sets out what NHS organisations must focus on in 2011/12 to prepare for transition to the new system of GP commissioning. This will include:

● the need to continue to improve performance;

● primary care trusts to be streamlined into clusters, working with GP practices and emerging GP consortia on commissioning as well as reducing running costs;

● the role of the NHS Commissioning Board, which will operate in shadow form from next year to ensure an efficient and effective transition.

The Operating Framework also requires the NHS to prioritise the implementation of earlier diagnosis for cancer patients, potentially saving thousands of lives.

The announcements are backed by £89bn of funding for PCTs to spend next year on commissioning services for patients – an increase of £2.6bn from 2010/11. This will include money for commissioning dentistry, ophthalmic and pharmacy services as well as money to support social care.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20

There could be a power battle as the week begins. Mercury continues to head backwards and joins with the Sun. This can see you finalizing any plans to get away, but it can also reveal some glitches. Don't take anything around flights, accommodation or contractual issues, as face value Aries. Drill down into the detail to avoid any mishaps going forwards. Call for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

If you are renting, selling or buying a property, you have a chance to tie up quite a few loose ends. Don't be tempted to take any short cuts though. If you browbeat any opposition, you might achieve a temporary victory but create a lot of resentment or future problems in the process. This can be a time when you may need to work closely with an advisor. Call for more advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

This is not a time of year to be on bad terms with folk, but as Mercury moves past the Sun for three days, there's an ideal chance to talk this through. Even if it's about achieving closure, it'll leave you feeling a lot better in yourself. In business, ward off any temptation to act in a ruthless or uncaring way. Here too, negotiation is going to work best. Gemini. Call now for more advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

The Sun powers its way into a great location, ideal for reviving most relationships and positioning you ideally for all the pressures and strains Yule can evoke. Yet there may be one person who is being so tricky to deal with you may wonder if you can hold your temper. Don't let yourself get pushed around by them. You may have to teach them the meaning of respect. Call me for more...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

Social plans are ripe for alterations, and if you let it, all this could get you down. This will be especially so if someone is being thoughtless or unreasonable. You on the other hand, could find yourself supercharged with energy and prepared to take on everything head first, but do get some down time or else your nerves will start to angle. A letter needs careful thought. Call for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

You might say you don't need to be an astrologer to know that can be family politics at this time of year, and of course this is true. But with your ruler side by side the Sun for three days, even some of what comes up could surprise. Perhaps it's what you'll want to do that will cause the biggest gasps of all. Single? A raunchy start to the week is possible. Call for your love scope...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

There could be tensions as the week begins, or you'll just feel very tense inside. Little issues that you ordinarily shrug off, could bug you. Steer clear of anyone you find tricky at the best of times. Sparks could fly with a flat-mate, family member or a contractor doing work at home. Funnily enough, if there is a row, a more constructive atmosphere can then prevail. Call for more...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

Your rulers Mars and Pluto are side by side, and this can give you a desire to punch across your ideas. Ideal for a lively phone-in debate on the radio, but not so helpful if you want to enjoy a peaceable gathering. What to you can make total sense can be totally baffling to another person, who decides to be just as stubborn. Money owed can be repaid. Call for your financial scope...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

One situation may have been off, and then back off again, but you can find the wherewithal to make this happen. Someone may also tempt you with a very expensive item at a bargain basement price. With Christmas rushing up, you may find yourself pondering it. However, if you have any doubt about its provenance, you'd be best to walk on by - quickly. Call for more...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

A tricky customer can try to use mind games to undermine you, and you could find yourself both furious and a bit rattled. This may be related to some kind of payout or compensation claim. Yet as the Sun joins you midweek, this is going to give you a tremendous jolt of empowering energy which can help you to overcome any obstacles and face down a rival. Call me for more advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

A reunion can be more than fun - it can give you a completely different perspective on your outlook. Someone may have much greater depth of feeling for you than you had previously appreciated. Equally, another person may hold a deep seated grudge. Because you are essentially a humanist and can let go of old issues, it might surprise just how alive this is. Call for more...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

An introduction through a friend could snaffle you a face to face with someone really positive, someone who may have a different impact on your life than you might initially think. So, do be open-minded, especially if they are a person from another generation. The Full Moon suggests such an opportunity may come at the cost of some emotional or home turbulence. Call for more...

>>what's on in Harlow >>panto There's still time to take a magic carpet ride into festive fantasy as the Playhouse pantomime Aladdin continues its month-long run. This year's cast features Aaron Sidwell (of EastEnders fame) as the boisterous boy-thief who steals the heart of the beautiful Princess Jasmine (Waterloo Road's Holly Matthews) and must thwart baddie Abanazar (MI High's Chris Stanton). The show runs until January 3 and tickets cost between £12 and £17.50.

>>art An Olympics-themed exhibition of works by local artists is now on display at Harlow's Gibberd Gallery. Journey To The Podium has been inspired by the personal stories of athletes from across Essex hoping to compete in the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games and will run at the gallery in Harlow Civic Centre until January 27. Admission is free.

>>music Swing into the New Year with the Jo Fooks Quintet on Saturday when the acclaimed saxophonist, pictured above, brings her all-star band to Marigolds Jazz Club in Old Harlow. After recording her debut album, Edinburgh-born Jo's career really took off when she joined legendary British trumpeter Humphrey Lyttelton's eight-piece band, going on to play some of the UK's top venues. Doors open at 7.30pm and tickets cost £6 from (01279) 414174 / 421763 or £7 on the door.

>>New Year's Eve

THE SQUARE, Fourth Avenue, Harlow – Fed up with your end-of-year celebrations turning into a crushing anti-climax of sambuca, kebabs and a quick fumble on the dancefloor? Then get your groove on at The Square as the venue gives a taster of what to expect from its four Friday club nights in 2011 – Raw Power (punk and new wave), Kick Out The Jams ('60s garage rock, funk and soul), Pressure Drop (reggae, ska, dub and rocksteady) and Take Me Out (indie and Britpop). Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £6.

Star names head for The Playhouse

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

AN exciting and varied programme of entertainment awaits Harlow theatregoers in the New Year as The Playhouse prepares for its winter/spring season.

Drama lovers are in for a treat with the theatre's three-for-two deal and with eight plays to choose from between January and July there promises to be something for everyone.

The first is Pulling Faces on February 9, starring former EastEnders actress Louise Jameson, followed by Agatha Christie's classic murder mystery The Hollow from February 18-20 and The Ladies of Cranford - A Celebration of a Certain Age on April 6.

Fresh from their panto success with Aladdin, New World Productions returns at Easter with a magical new adaptation of Beauty and the Beast.

Running from April 10-18, it stars Melissa Suffield (Lucy Beale from EastEnders), Danielle McCormack (Mel Barker from ITV's My Parents Are Aliens) and Jonny Freeman (who plays Frank London on CBBC's hit show M.I. High).

The programme also includes some iconic musicians and singers direct from the USA, including legendary Rat Pack contributor Buddy Greco on January 28, The Three Degrees on February 12, soul legends Gary U.S. Bonds and Ben E. King in The Great American Soulbook on February 24, and soul heavyweight PP Arnold on May 6.

Other original artists include Richard Digance on January 26, Gerry Marsden of Gerry and the Pacemakers on February 13, Barbara Dickson on March 2, multi-award winning jazz pioneer Courtney Pine on March 10 and Angela Rippon with the Piccadilly Dance Orchestra on March 25.

There will then be a chance to say goodbye to Rockney legends Chas & Dave, whose farewell tour rolls into the Playhouse for a good old-fashioned knees-up on April 3, before legendary crooner Tony Christie graces the stage on April 28.

The Comedy@The Playhouse strand continues next season with a host of top stand-up comedians including Miles Jupp on February 26, Bring Me Sunshine – a celebration of Morecambe and Wise – from March 30-3, and the outspoken Jethro on June 23.

Other highlights include Michael Bublé tribute Bublé Fever on February 10, The Circus of Horrors from March 16-17, Science Museum Live from March 18-19, An Evening With Neil Morrissey on March 23, The Glenn Miller Orchestra on May 10, kids' favourite Thomas the Tank Engine and Friends from May 21-22 and the eye-popping National Black Light Theatre of Prague from May 29-30.

Special show for ballet company

START the New Year with a flurry of pliés and pirouettes as Harlow Ballet Association presents a new show at The Playhouse on Sunday.

Organised, prepared and choreographed entirely by the school's talented students, the winter showcase promises to be fresh, innovative and exciting.

It will feature a varied and dynamic range of routines in both traditional and contemporary dance styles and even a sneak preview of HBA's forthcoming production of Cinderella, which comes to The Playhouse in April.

HBA artistic director Michael Branwell said: "This is Harlow Ballet Association as you've never seen it before."

"The whole of this very special show is being arranged, prepared and managed by the students themselves, with contributions from Harlow Ballet School teachers."

"With a young and enthusiastic production team, this is in every way a new start for HBA in the New Year."

Drugs are no substitute for the chemistry of love

NAKED TRUTH: Anne Hathaway and Jake Gyllenhaal star in Love & Other Drugs (s)

LOVE & OTHER DRUGS certificate 15 1h 52m

THE bare necessities of Ed Zwick's romantic comedy with a dark edge are hard to miss – namely, the arresting sight of bright young things Jake Gyllenhaal and Anne Hathaway rolling around naked for the entire middle third of the film.

Refreshingly, sex walks hand in hand with emotion in Love & Other Drugs which treats the physical intimacy of the characters as an important element of their developing relationship.

There is nowhere to hide for Gyllenhaal and Hathaway and they rise to the challenge admirably, catalysing a smouldering on-screen chemistry that should send temperatures soaring in multiplexes as snow blankets much of the UK.

Set in the mid 1990s, the film centres initially on pharmaceutical sales rep Jamie Randall (Gyllenhaal), who works alongside mentor Bruce Jackson (Oliver Platt) in wooing waiting room receptionists like Cindy (Judy Greer) in the hope of getting their drugs on to the shelves.

During one visit to the surgery of Dr Knight (Hank Azaria), Jamie meets 26-year-old patient Maggie Murdock (Hathaway), an artist with early onset Parkinson's disease.

The spark of attraction leads initially to a physical relationship but the more time Maggie and Jamie spend together, the more aware they become that her degenerative condition could rob them of any chance of lasting happiness.

Love & Other Drugs is an entertaining though curious amalgam of three different films: a forthright romantic comedy, a disease-of-the-week tearjerker and a colourful history lesson about the introduction of a certain little blue pill to the lucrative American drugs market.

Hathaway captures the physical frailties and fear of a young woman under siege in her own body while Gyllenhaal plies his roguish charm, which is gradually undone as Jamie teeters on the brink of saying those three little words. Both capture the giddiness of lovers in the first flushes of romance, enslaved by their fragile emotions.

Gulliver's Travels (3D & 2D) Lemuel Gulliver (Jack Black) works in the postroom of a New York newspaper where he pines for travel editor Darcy Silverman (Amanda Peet) from afar. In order to impress the object of his affections, Gulliver blags a travel assignment to the Bermuda Triangle. Heading out to sea on his boat Nottersail, Gulliver is swept into a massive, swirling column of water and ends up as a giant in the land of Lilliput. Feared at first by the tiny inhabitants, Gulliver ingratiates himself to King Theodore (Billy Connolly), Queen Isabelle (Catherine Tate) and their daughter Princess Mary (Emily Blunt).

Meet The Parents: Little Fockers Gaylord "Greg" Focker (Ben Stiller) is blissfully in love with his wife Pam (Teri Polo) and his twins, Samantha (Daisy Tahan) and Henry (Colin Hanks). But Pam's father – retired CIA operative Jack Byrnes (Robert De Niro) – continues to view Greg with suspicion and isn't sure that his son-in-law is made of the right material to lead the Byrnes clan.

Burlesque Ali (Christina Aguilera) works as a waitress but secretly dreams of stardom beneath the glittering light of Los Angeles. She heads for the city where she gets a job in the Burlesque cabaret bar run by ex-dancer Tess (Cher). But trouble looms on the horizon: Tess is months in arrears and the club will be sold off unless she can raise a small fortune in the next four weeks.

Tron Legacy (3D) Sam Flynn (Garrett Hedlund), the tech-savvy 27-year-old son of Kevin Flynn (Jeff Bridges), investigates his father's disappearance and finds himself pulled into the same world of fierce programmes and gladiatorial games where his father has been living for 20 years. Father and son embark on a life-and-death journey across a cyber universe that has become far more advanced and exceedingly dangerous.

The Chronicles of Narnia: Voyage Of The Dawn Treader (3D) Lucy and Edmund Pevensie return to Narnia with their cousin Eustace where they meet up with Prince Caspian for a trip across the sea aboard the royal ship The Dawn Treader. Along the way they encounter dragons, dwarves, merfolk and a band of lost warriors before reaching the edge of the world.

Megamind (3D & 2D) The supervillain Megamind finally conquers his nemesis Metro Man but finds his life pointless without a hero to fight.

Harry Potter and The Deathly Hallows: Part 1 As Harry races against time and evil to destroy the Horcruxes, he uncovers the existence of three most powerful objects in the wizarding world – the Deathly Hallows.

THE NEXT THREE DAYS certificate 12a 2h 13m

WHEN his wife is convicted of a murder she swears she did not commit, a college professor plots to break her out of prison in this thriller starring Russell Crowe and Liam Neeson.

John Brennan (Crowe) and his wife, Lara (Elizabeth Banks), are happily married and raising a family when their lives fall apart in the blink of an eye.

Lara is charged with murder and, despite every effort to prove her innocence, she is found guilty and jailed. Meanwhile, John files multiple appeals while struggling to raise their children and maintain his career.

When Lara's final appeal is rejected and she admits she would rather commit suicide than spend the rest of her life behind bars.

Determined to save his wife after the justice system fails her, John seeks the advice of ex-convict Damon Pennington (Liam Neeson), who staged his own prison escape, in order to draw up an airtight plan.

As John prepares to put his life on the line for the woman he loves, he sets the plan into motion with the knowledge that one false move could be their last.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Luke looks forward to life in fast lane

MOTOR racing ace Luke Hines is keeping his options open for the 2011 season.

A stunning GTC class debut in the American Le Mans Series earned Hines recognition as one of Europe's leading sportscar drivers in 2010.

Only joining the Series battle from round three with Paul Miller Racing, Hines, from Sedge Green near Harlow, led the GTC field in his Porsche 911 the following round and every subsequent race.

This was until a massive accident at the Mosport International Raceway penultimate season outing, where he was nudged off the track and into a barrier – somehow escaping injury as his car was demolished – and his chances of winning the class race were ruined.

Hines, son of karting legend and Zip Kart owner Martin, boasts a winning pedigree in every category he's ever competed, claiming championship titles, race wins and podiums from the karting ranks to single-seaters, the British Touring Car Championship and across the sportscar categories of GT1 and GT2.

It's no surprise, therefore, that the 28 year-old is currently considering a number of options for the 2011 season.

"I'm not under contract for 2011 so I'm on the market and considering various opportunities," he said. "I'm pretty open and optimistic that I'll be able to find a good deal."

"I have made no secret of the fact that I've loved racing in the ALMS. Contesting GTC certainly turned out to be a career highlight. The series has a distinct spirit and I felt quite at home."

"Everyone was amazingly supportive after my accident and did everything they could to get us back on track. It was a shame it happened – it was certainly the biggest shunt of my career – but I made a lot of friends as a result and even attracted sponsor interest."

"My main aim for 2011 is to be racing in America but I have to keep my options open."

"In an ideal world I'd love to be racing GT2, where there are some big teams and manufacturers, not to mention a great grid of drivers. That would be my main career aim at this stage, but I'd be very happy to return to the GTC class to claim the race wins I deserved this year."

As well as his reputation for building sportscars, Hines boasts an impressive BTCC record. He took the Production Car title in 2003 in his inaugural season and went on to help VX Racing to the manufacturers' title the following year.

His last BTCC outing with SEAT Sport in 2005, however, left unfinished business for the local racer.

"Although my 2011 focus is firmly on sportscars, the BTCC has always been and remains to be of interest," he said.

"I've been approached for deals in recent years, but for whatever reason they haven't been quite the right drive for me. There are a few new options on the touring car table for next season and it wouldn't be a problem for me to juggle both a BTCC and sportscar commitment, so nothing is out of the question."

Hines will be catching up with fans at the forthcoming Autosport International show, taking place at the NEC Birmingham from January 13-16.

League step in over fixture

THE Ryman League have intervened to sort out a clash of fixtures for Harlow Town FC.

The trip to title-chasing East Thurrock United will now go ahead on Tuesday February 8.

Harlow Town FC matchday secretary Ray Dyer explained: "The reason the league intervened was that we play each other again on Saturday February 12 at home which is just four days later, both us and East Thurrock tried to avoid this and tried to schedule the first week of March, but the league would not agree to that, as it was outside the 42-day rule and have made us play on that date."

Meanwhile, Redbridge at home has been rescheduled for Tuesday February 22.

This match was postponed before Christmas.

Boys Championship.

Smith's name adorns the roll of honour at Canons Brook.

He won the Bryan Monro Trophy (scratch matchplay) in 1995 and 1996.

In 1996 he also won the Canons Brook Golf Club Championship when he was just 15 years-old.

The year before he joined the club he won the Henry Cotton Junior Championship in 1992.

In 1997, he won the Hales Carter matchplay competition.

But now he is firmly focused on teaching the great golfers of tomorrow.

His favourite coaches are David Leadbetter, Nick Faldo's former coach, and multi Major winner Ben Hogan. "I take my coaching ideas from both of them, but there are so many different views on coaching," Smith added.

Karting

KART racer Matthew Hayden finished sixth in the Honda Cadet section at Hoddesdon Kart Club.

The Harlow racer was fifth but dropped down a spot to end in sixth in the race which was won by Stevenage's Aaron Drury.

The event saw 110 competitors take part in various classes and was the last one of the year.

Boss out for revenge after 5-0 drubbing Chip off old Brook

HAWKS boss Kevin Warren says his side are out for revenge as they bid to erase a 5-0 drubbing against Enfield Town from the memory banks.

Warren signed SIX players after watching his team lose so heavily against fellow promotion chasers Enfield at Goldsdown Road on the August Bank Holiday Monday.

The two teams meet again at Barrows Farm on New Year's Day in the corresponding fixture.

Warren said: "They [Enfield] are a strong side. A lot of the players know each other. It's always been a tasty derby. They well and truly beat us at their place. Hopefully we can get revenge."

"That day we had a number of suspensions and injuries. It did not work out well for us. But we have strengthened since then and I'm pretty sure we will produce a much better account of ourselves."

Seven players from that disastrous day are likely to be in the Harlow squad for Saturday's Ryman division one north match.

"The boys in the team that day will remember that match for a long time. It wasn't a good day," confessed Warren.

Hawks will hope to build on the win over Ilford – the only league game they played in the whole of December – as they put behind them a miserable November when they lost five league games on the trot.

Harlow are hoping for a bumper crowd against Enfield, who are likely to bring a strong support.

"We are expecting quite a decent crowd. It's important that we start picking up the points and get into play-off contention," said Warren. Meanwhile, Warren is hoping to extend centre-back Reece York's loan spell from npower League Two Barnet. This runs out after Tuesday's game at Brentwood.

If Barnet refuse this request, Warren admits he will be in the market for another centre-half.

Right-back Donny Barnard, who suffered a knee ligament injury in November, should start against Enfield.

However, left-back Sacha Opinel still has one game to serve of a five-match ban.

Strikers Che Stadhart and Matt Judge, plus midfielder Getro Kilapi have all been battling 'flu but the Hawks boss is hopeful they can be in the squad against Enfield.

THE Hawks have been getting fighting fit for their bid to reach the play-offs by taking part in their exercise classes. See next week's Star for our picture special on this novel training session.

they'd hit a shot they had never tried before – knowing that I have helped somebody to improve is what I enjoy."

His arrival is part of a sea of changes at the Harlow club for 2011.

The 441-yard par 4 10th hole, which plays up to a beautiful view of Roydon, is being transformed. Errant balls were causing a problem for houses on the left of the fairway and green but it has been elevated and switched to the right, which should alleviate all these problems.

"It's in the sky now," beamed club chairman Ivor Marshall.

The 384-yard par 4 14th hole is also being radically altered.

These will be in use from the spring.

Last year a huge project, costing six figures, saw the changing rooms get a 21st century make over.

Meanwhile, the club hopes to introduce a new driving range at the Canons Brook site and improve the practice area in the not too distant future.

The club has never had a driving range on site, but McGinn operated one at nearby Gilston. However, this was closed down after being plagued by firebugs.

'Day I lost to Sergio'

LOSING by just one hole to Spanish Ryder Cup star Sergio Garcia in the British Boys Championship is the rather unique claim to fame of the new head professional at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club.

Mark Smith (33) has replaced previous head coach Alan McGinn, who has left the club to start up a new life in Devon after 17 years at the Elizabeth Way club.

Smith was 17 and playing off +2 (two over par) when he took on the then 15-year-old Garcia in Scotland in 1995, who was then playing off +4.

The two players met in the first round stage of the matchplay competition.

"I was four down after seven [holes] to him but I was pleased to come back and only lost on the last hole," beamed Smith.

Garcia, left, had already won the Spanish Amateur Championship by an incredible margin of 19 holes.

Smith, who lives in Peacocks, had qualified for the British Boys Championship after winning the Essex Boys Championship.

It was the second year running that the Harlow-based golfer had competed at the British Chip off the old Brook!

Prodigal son returns as head pro at golf club

THE sight of Canons Brook's new head professional Mark Smith will be a familiar one for many members of the golf club who remember him as a youngster learning his trade.

Smith would spend hours at the Elizabeth Way club honing his skills as a teenager during the 1990s. He was playing off +2 (two over par) when he was just 17.

Smith, who turned professional at the tender age of 20, is delighted to return to the club which he calls 'home'.

The golfer has been a PGA pro for 10 years and was assistant professional under previous head pro Alan McGinn at Canons Brook a few years ago before taking up a top role with the par three courses at North Weald and High Beech.

Although he enjoyed his time there, once Canons Brook came a calling there was only one destinuation for the former Broxbourne School pupil.

Although he may not want to admit too loudly that he is an Arsenal fan, with so many members supporting arch-rivals Spurs!

"The members are such a great crowd. There are a lot of nice guys and a lot of guys looked after me when I was younger. They helped me in so many different ways," said Smith.

Chairman Ivor Marshall is delighted to see Smith back where he belongs. "He's come home - not back to the future but back to the Brook!"

Smith has already transformed the pro shop which now looks totally different with a plush new look.

He first started coaching in the spring of 1998.

Although still a regular player, he takes more enjoyment nowadays out of the achievements of the people he teaches.

"The enjoyment of the members, whether it's kids or adults, just coming in and saying 'I had a good round' is great. The satisfaction of someone coming in with a great score or saying

Derby rearranged after white out

THE Hawks have rescheduled their derby against Ware in Ryman division one north for Tuesday March 1.

The game was originally meant to take place on Monday (December 27) but was called off due to a frozen pitch.

Harlow Town are next in action this Saturday at home to Enfield Town before a trip to Brentwood Town next Tuesday.
